

Why Hire a Planner

There are many reasons a Wedding Planner, Coordinator or Specialist may be for you. Some of which include stress management, budget control time and expertise. Planning an event takes a lot of time and energy both physically and emotionally. So why not sit down with a Planner or Specialist who can help guide you through the process. Below are some details as to how an Event and Wedding Planner/Specialist can help make your event run smoothly and have it be enjoyable for all involved.

Stress – There are many decisions that need to be made and many have an intense time table to be followed. Vendors need to be researched, interviewed and booked, dresses need to be picked out and ordered in time to have them arrive and be fitted, Invitations need to be sent out on time with RSVP's being tracked. All these things can make planning an event stressful but can also be things a Planner does for you so that you do not need to be stressed.

Budget – How many times do you get married or throw a party? Many people are not familiar with what venues cost, or how much they should pay per person for catering. Event and Wedding Planners/Specialists have the ability to help you wade through the proposals and negotiate them so that you are sticking to the budget as well as potentially saving money through the connections they have.

Time – you may just not have enough time to be able to plan your event or wedding. Because of this you may fall victim to thoughts and ideas others have for you. By hiring a Wedding Planner/Specialist you are able to plan your wedding the way you want it done while still having time to live your life.

Things to consider- Day of Coordinators are fabulous when it comes to wanting to plan things yourself but still wanting the comfort of knowing things will all fall together the way you want them to. Regardless of if you have lots of decoration that you want set up or a big grand entrance to be organized a Day of Coordinator can make your wedding relaxing and fun. They take on all the stress of completing everything so that you, your husband, family and friends can all enjoy the day without having to worry about all the little details.
